JET HELICOPTER. Former navy pilot William Harrop, Wilton, Conn., flies the experimental helicopter X-17 during its first successful flight, just demonstrated in the navy. Instead of using propellers at the end of wings, the helicopter is powered by a jet engine in the fuselage. Engine fuel ejection at new speed helps air on tail rotor blade, keeping tail rotation up and under control. Harrop, the helicopter engineer brother is working out a conventional rotor blade for the X-17.

ed first place for Clothing Achievement in the state contest.

This success was not new to the winner, she having last summer been the winner of the District Declamation Contest conducted by the Y.W.A. organization at Virginia Beach. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McCormick, of Spout Springs, she will enter the Zone One Finals at Suffolk High School on March 20th where she will compete with students from the First and Second Congressional Districts. The winners of the zone finals will compete in the State Contest and thereafter the winners will advance to the Regional and the National Contests which will be held later in the spring.

Other contestants in addition to Miss Vaughn, who was District winner last year, were Helen Owen, of Chase City, and Joseph N. Wilkerson, of Kenbridge.

The National Oratorical Contest has been sponsored by the Legion since 1938. Last year over 300,000 young people of high school age competed in 45 states. Prepared orations and extemporaneous addresses are presented by each contestant, the subjects being restricted to the Constitution and the responsibilities of Citizenship. Last year's National winner was Jeanne-Mann Dickerson, of Roanoke, who won a $4,000 college scholarship.

bration on Saturday night, March 8th. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hal Moore and children, Fred, Huston, Mildred, Cornelius and Nancy, and Mrs. Fannie Moore; Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard Moore, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Martin and sons, Randolph and Bentley; Otho Martin, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. David Martin and C. A. Goodman. Games were played and refreshments served. The birthday theme was carried out in the decoration of the cake and the refreshments. All enjoyed the occasion and wished him many more happy birthdays.
